Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, it is unclear if the needle is being positively recited.

In claim 2, it is unclear if the rod is being positively recited.

In claim 13, the phrase "moreover means" is vague and unclear.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gianturco-5258000.

Gianturco discloses a device including a peripheral nitinol wire loop 22 and a flexible wall 13. A rod 27 has threads for engaging a threaded connector 28 on the proximal end of a radial thread integrally connected to the peripheral loop. When withdrawn, the threaded connection can be located at a center of the patch. Helical attachments 40 are spaced from the patch but which are implantable so as to engage the patch and tissue.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gianturco-000 in view of Kammerer, et al.-2001/0010005.

Gianturco discloses the invention as claimed with the exception of the types of attachment means. However, Kammerer discloses the claimed fasteners. It would have been obvious to have used a fastener such as that taught by Kammerer, for the fastener of Gianturco, as merely being an obvious well-known alternative fastener capable of adequately holding the patch in place relative to tissue.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Himpens, et al.-5397331 in view of Gianturco and Kammerer.

Himpens discloses a peripheral nitinol loop and a mesh wall patch attached thereto. A radial wire attaches to a central hub 17 having a threaded socket 18 fore removably attaching to a rod 20. However, the separate attachments are not disclosed.

Gianturco discloses the use of separate attachment fasteners. It would have been obvious to have used fasteners around the periphery of the patch to reliably attach it to the tissue about the tissue aperture. Kammerer discloses the specific attachment fastener. It would have been obvious to have used a fastener such as that taught by Kammerer, for the fastener of Gianturco, as merely being an obvious well-known alternative fastener capable of adequately holding the patch in place relative to tissue.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 5-12 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 13-15 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.
